

Centuries Even “You can lead a horse to water, but you cannot make it drink.”

That is a philosophy lesson. For Wellness strategies, people need to be willing. Okay, but what if you want pleasure? What if you want satiation? What if you want that taste-good feeling? What if you want that feel-good high? Ah - then your choice is to be here for a good time which science says will be a short time and a time filled with numerous sufferings. I get it. That's your choice. Evidence points this way and instead you want to go that way. You are free to do so because our society is free. When trouble comes knocking at your door you likely will have few options. This is particularly so in the healthcare field.

So, away you go on your own and when you are ready we are here for you. We will help you. We will point you to the evidence and help you make informed decisions. It is all fairly easy-going with you being able to prioritize to a considerable extent. We will help you get your company enrolled and we will help you get enrolled. Some people discover true reality quite quickly, other people take a lot of time. We can wait. We will be here. It is possible to get a level of good taste, a level of good feeling, a level of satiation, a level of natural high. They are all possible within reason. Science shows us the reason.
